SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY

The First Space-Based Indian Observatory to Study the Sun

- The first space-based Indian observatory to study the Sun - Aditya-L1, is getting ready for its launch in September.
- ISRO said that the satellite, developed at U R Rao Satellite Centre Bengaluru, has arrived at its spaceport in Sriharikota in Andhra Pradesh.
- The spacecraft is expected to be placed in a halo orbit around the Lagrange point - L1 of the Sun-Earth system, which is about 1.5 million kilometres from the Earth.
- A satellite placed in the halo orbit around the L1 point has the major advantage of continuously viewing the Sun without any eclipses.

- This will provide a greater advantage in observing solar activities and their effect on space weather in real-time.
- The spacecraft will carry seven payloads to observe the photosphere, chromosphere and the outermost layers of the Sun's corona using electromagnetic and particle field detectors.
