Twitter Unveils New Logo 'X'

- Popular social media platform Twitter launched a new logo 'X' as part of a massive rebranding effort.
- The blue bird logo has been replaced by an 'X', which is now featured prominently on the website.
- Media reports have confirmed the unveiling of the new logo, which features a white 'X' on a black background, symbolising the platform's updated identity.
- The new logo was announced jointly by Twitter founder Elon Musk and CEO Linda Yacarino, indicating their involvement in the rebranding process.
- The 'X' logo introduced during Twitter's rebranding marks a shift towards turning the platform into an all-encompassing app similar to China's WeChat.
- The change is aimed at enabling users to perform various tasks beyond social media including making payments and booking hotels.

New Image of Webb Space Telescope's First Year of Science

- The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) released a new image of a small star-forming region captured by James Webb Space Telescope to celebrate the completion of the telescope's first year of science.

- The new image features the nearest star-forming region in the Rho Ophiuchi cloud complex.
- Its proximity at 390 light-years allows for a highly detailed close-up, with no foreground stars in the intervening space.
- The region contains approximately 50 young stars, all of them similar in mass to the Sun, or smaller.
- Webb's image of Rho Ophiuchi allows us to witness a very brief period in the stellar life cycle with new clarity.
- The pictured cloud complex, known as Rho Ophiuchi, is the closest 50 baby stars -forming region to Earth and is found in the sky near the border of the constellations Ophiuchus and Scorpius, the serpent bearer and scorpion.
- The telescope is the result of an international collaboration between NASA, the European Space Agency (ESA) and the Canadian Space Agency which was launched in December 2021.
