Delhi Government To Launch Paryavaran Sanrakashak Initiative

In a fresh initiative to sensitise the youth of Delhi about climate change and its impact on ecology, the Delhi government has launched an initiative to train 80 'Paryavaran Sanrakshaks' as eco-leaders.

The initiative was announced by the Delhi Government's Environment Minister Manjinder Singh Sirsa.

The key aim of the initiative is to make the environmental conservation effort a mass movement with greater people's participation. The youth are being targeted as they are the future of Delhi.

To implement the initiative, the Department of Environment, Government of the National Capital Territory of Delhi, signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with the Delhi-based The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI). TERI will initially train 80 educators and students as Paryavaran Sanrakshaks.

They will be the eco leaders and play a key role in generating awareness amongst the students and youth about the impact of climate change on our biodiversity and ecosystem.

They will also sensitise the youth about the necessary changes required in our lifestyles to protect the environment and mitigate the effects of climate change.

The Delhi government will fund the TERI for this project. It will provide Rs 40 lakhs to TERI.

It will also help TERI conduct various awareness-generation campaigns in Delhi's schools and colleges through the Paryavaran Sanrakshan.

ECONOMY

Fitch Revises India's Medium-Term Economic Growth Estimate to 6.4%

Fitch Ratings revised India's medium-term GDP growth potential till FY2026 upwards to 6.4%, from the earlier projection of 6.2%.

The upward revision of 0.2 percentage points (pp) is due to higher labour force participation, which more than offsets a lower contribution from labour productivity.

Fitch noted "less pandemic scarring in India", contributing to stronger growth prospects.

Fitch slightly lowered its medium-term potential GDP growth projections for 10 emerging market economies covered in its Global Economic Outlook, now estimated at 3.9% (down from 4% in Nov 2023).

The overall downgrade mainly reflects lower potential growth in China.

India's total factor productivity is expected to slow, returning to its long-run average of 1.5%.

The revised growth estimate indicates a stronger contribution from labour inputs (total employment) rather than from labour productivity.

Fitch maintained a lower growth projection for China at 4.6%, due to weaker capital deepening and ongoing property market adjustment impacting overall investment.
