Zomato Payments Gets RBI's Nod to Operate As An Online Payment Aggregator

Zomato Payments, a wholly owned subsidiary of Zomato Limited, has received the certificate of authorisation from the Reserve Bank of India to operate as an online payment aggregator.

In an exchange filing, the food delivery platform stated the central bank has allowed it to carry out the business as payment aggregator and issuer of pre-paid payment instruments with effect from January 24, 2024.

Last year, Zomato had joined hands with ICICI Bank to launch its own unified payments interface (UPI) offering -- Zomato UPI.

The feature was offered to select users and did not involve a KYC process.

It eliminated the need for users to navigate to other payment apps, such as Google Pay, Paytm, and PhonePe, while placing orders on Zomato.

With this, Zomato, just like Tata Pay, Razorpay, Cashfree, among others, managed to secure the much-awaited payments licence.

Earlier this month, Tata Payments and Bengaluru-based identity verification startup DigiO secured the payment aggregator (PA) licence from the RBI.

Ola Founder's Krutrim Becomes India's First AI Unicorn

Krutrim, an AI startup founded by Ola founder Bhavish Aggarwal, stated it has raised a funding round that values it at $1 billion.

The startup, founded last year, is the fastest to become a unicorn in India, it claimed in a press statement.

It's also the first Indian AI startup to become a unicorn, it stated.

Matrix Partners India — which has also backed Aggarwal's other two startups, ride-hailing platform Ola and EV startup Ola Electric — led the $50 million "first round" in Krutrim.

TechCrunch reported last year that Aggarwal was in talks to raise $50 million for his new AI venture.

Krutrim, which means "artificial" in Sanskrit, is building a large language model that has been trained on local Indian languages in addition to English.

The startup plans to launch a voice-enabled conversational AI assistant that understands and speaks multiple Indian languages, the startup stated.

ISRO to Launch INSAT-3DS Satellite

The Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) is set to launch its latest meteorological satellite, INSAT-3DS, marking a significant advancement in India's space capabilities.

This satellite, designed to enhance weather forecasting and disaster management, represents a culmination of rigorous testing and collaboration between ISRO and various stakeholders.

INSAT-3DS is engineered to provide continuity of services to its predecessors, INSAT-3D (launched in 2013) and INSAT-3DR (2016), while also augmenting the capabilities of the INSAT platform.

Its design, based on ISRO's well-proven I-2k bus platform, boasts a lift-off mass of 2,275 kg, making it a robust addition to India's satellite fleet.
